Then too, it is urged that the practical removal of all the customary restrictions for importations of goods intended for the World's Fair would make such importations doubly dangerous as disease breeders. A postponement of the monetary conference on account of the cholera is also more than a possibility.

As to the condition of affairs at Liverpool Surgeon-general Wyman received a cablegram to-day from Consul Sherman as follows: "All steerage passengers sailing to-day efficiently quarantined before embarking. All clothing and baggage thoroughly disinfected by sulphur process. Passengers already embarked pronounced perfectly safe by local authorities who are thoroughly alive to danger and taking vigorous measures to prevent any outbreak.

HAMBURG HORRORS

Scenes and Incidents in a Plague Stricken City

HAMBURG, Aug. 31.—The air is cooler and the sky has been overcast since 9 o'clock this morning. Reports to the board of health show the development of [illegible]13 fresh cases and [illegible] deaths. This is a decrease since yesterday of ninety seven in the number of cases developed and of forty-three in the number of deaths. The people of the city feel no encouragement, however, to expect on this account the immediate abatement of the disease. So many hopes have been raised by official announcements in the last week only to be shattered within the next twenty four hours, that public confidence is entirely gone. The panic seems to have complete possession of the city. Everybody who can is leaving or preparing to leave. Several keepers of the largest hotels contemplate closing their houses should the plague be at its present height on Saturday. Shops are closing by the score, either because cholera has appeared among the employees or because the proprietors have feared to remain in town to conduct their business.

No accurate estimate of the numbers leaving the city daily is to be had, but they are now well up in the thousands. Railways running to Luebeck, Rostock and other seaside towns are crowded at all hours although extra cars have been attached to all of them. In most of the less frequented streets a person may walk half a mile without meeting half a dozen persons, and in several streets where all traffic has been forbidden, the silence and barricades are broken only by the [illegible] of physicians and health officers.

At almost every turn hearses or dead wagons are met, but the burials do not keep pace with the deaths. It is said that in the city at lowest 350 bodies which should have been interred last night still await burial. An extraordinary effort was made to-day to remedy the perilous condition of affairs and 305 burials have been made, against 290 on yesterday, but the increase of mortality as the result of hot weather yesterday and last night has counterbalanced the exertions of the authorities.

OVERWORKED PHYSICIANS

The physicians of the city are terribly overworked and many have been obliged to give up their duties temporarily that they may rest. Those attached to the health board are completely exhausted and to-day the board issued a call for 120 more for the present force has worked day and night for the last week. The government is said to be threatened with difficulty with handling the dead as several clerks and postmen have developed symptoms of the cholera to-day and a panic seems imminent among them.

A DESERTED HARBOR.

The most remarkable change that has ever come over the city is remarked at the docks along the harbor. All the excursion steamers and small pleasure craft lie idle and deserted. The sailing craft which touch here irregularly and line the water front with their spars are almost totally lacking. Only a few of the larger steamships which run to ports along the German coast continue uninterrupted in their trade. The dockers have little or no employment and most of them have no money for their families. Should shipping not revive within the next week they and their families will be upon the verge of starvation. In the suburbs Barmbeck and Rothenburgsort, where the largest number of cases have been reported to-day the [illegible] ... The Altona authorities this evening have at last 800 beds at the Eppendorf hospital. The director of the Lohmuehler street hospital was stricken with the cholera late this afternoon and an hour later two physicians of his staff succumbed to the disease. Many postmen are reported this evening to be ill of cholera. The report of the day for Altona shows that there have been fifty-one fresh cases and [illegible] deaths. The Prussian ministry of war has ordered the garrison lazarette at Altona to supply the Hamburg hospitals with five hundred beds. The registrars who record the deaths of the city will keep their offices open until 10 o'clock every night.

Disinfection at Queenstown

LONDON, Aug. 31.—The Queenstown agents of the transatlantic steamship companies have erected disinfecting chambers at the docks and are busy to-night fumigating the luggage of passengers for the steamships City of New York, Britannic and Ohio. Even the smallest satchel is fumigated for six hours. The materials used in the process of disinfection are a sulphurous acid gas and a solution of carbolic acid. General John G. Piatt, the United States consul at Cork, assisted by a corps of physicians, is superintending the fumigation. The announcement has been made that all passengers who do not arrive in time for the full process of disinfection will not be allowed to sail.

General Piatt says that this rule will be enforced to the letter.

CHOLERA NOTES

The official returns show that during the past few days fifty-one persons suffering from cholerine have been taken to Parisian hospitals. The deaths during the same period were twenty-one. The number of patients still under treatment is 122.

The Liverpool physicians who have been watching the case of the four Russian emigrants who were attacked yesterday with a suspicious sickness while waiting to go on board a steamer for the United States have officially declared the disease from which they were suffering is true Asiatic cholera.

The cholera in Teheran has at present apparently run itself out and the epidemic is now decreasing. The deaths from the disease amounted to 300. This is a high mortality but is a decrease of sixty compared with the deaths reported ten days ago.

2:05 1-4

How Nancy Hanks Again Lowered the Trotting Record

INDEPENDENCE, Ia., Aug. 31.—Nancy Hanks to-day clipped two seconds from the world's trotting record made by herself in Chicago two weeks ago and made the circuit of the Independence kite shaped track in 2:0[illegible].

All the conditions were favorable for a record breaking mile and Nancy proved herself fully equal to the occasion.

At 2:30 o'clock Nancy Hanks was brought out for a warming up mile. When she first appeared on the turf with her great driver Doble in the sulky cheers greeted the pair and eager eyes followed her the entire mile. At 4 o'clock she again appeared and the scene was repeated. Her perfect form, perfect action and the perfect day made everything seem favorable.

Promptly at 5:1[illegible] the great horse appeared for the trial. Doble donned his driving cap and the announcement was made that Nancy Hanks, holding the world's record of 2:07¼, was ready to start. Two prompters appeared on the loop to help her along with the sound of their hoof beats, in the greatest mile of her life. On the second score Doble's head gave a quick decisive nod, the word was given and a hundred watches were started to make the seconds until she should appear under the home wire. "Old Abe Lincoln" who went the mile with her in Chicago in 2:07¼, piloted by Frank Starr, took his place next the mare and Williams driving his runner Ned Gordon, went to the outside prepared to come up on the home stretch. With her smooth easy perfect and matchless gait Nancy trotted the quarter in 30 seconds, half in 1:01 without a misstep. Then began her grand old race home. Without a wobble and with perfect swing she shot past the third quarter pole in 1:34. Here Williams came up with his runner and Doble loosened the mare's head. He encouraged her by voice and a gentle use of the whip and without a falter she shot in for the wire in 2:05¼.

For one long minute breathless silence reigned. Everyone was scanning his watch and the figures at which the hands had stopped held the crowd in awe. Then awake to the fact that all records had been broken, the great assemblage broke into cheers loud and long as the queen of all trotters was driven back to the stand. Doble gracefully lifted his cap in recognition of the cheers showered upon him. Doble was lifted from his sulky by the enthusiastic crowd and men fought like maniacs in the scramble to grasp the successful driver's hand and shower congratulations upon him. Others ran up and caressed the mare as she was being blanketed and led from the track.

Weather Indications

Send your committee by all means as we expect 3000 cattle in with Texas fever to-night or to-morrow. The war has commenced in earnest. Five miles of Gibson & Frazier's fence was cut last night but of course the alliance did not do that."

A few days later Gibson died at Howard from the effect of a dose of poison, which has always remained a mystery. The terrible fate of his partner, Gibson and the threats against his own life only served to make Frazier more determined to defend his own rights. If he or his partner inflicted injury on anyone in the county by bringing in their herds they were always ready to make good the damages. Friday, June 11, Frazier started from his home in Moline to ride to see his herd. It was feeding a few miles from Sedan and he stopped over night with his partner's widow, eight miles from Sedan. When there he was disturbed all night by outsiders who tried to get him to open the door. The last seen of him was the 28th of June. Searching parties were organized in Sedan and the body was discovered in a stagnant pool 150 yards from the limits of his own pasture. Evidence has been worked up to prove that Frazier was first bound to a tree, his coat and vest removed and after having been hacked to pieces with knives thrown in the pool.

The first state investigation was conducted by General Hanback of the adjutant general's staff, since which time detectives have been in charge of the case.

HARRISON AND REID.

The Republican Leaders Hold a Friendly Conference.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Aug. 31.—President Harrison spent a busy day as the guest of his political running mate. He arrived in White Plains shortly before 10 o'clock this morning over the Harlem branch of the New York Central road. He left Loon Lake yesterday afternoon in company with Private-secretary Halford and Executive-clerk Tibbett, and was joined at Mott Haven this morning by Russell B. Harrison. Several hundred persons were gathered at the little station when the presidential special came to a halt there. Foremost in the gathering were Mr. Reid and Chairman Carter of the Republican national committee. Mr Reid grasped the president's hand heartily as the latter alighted from the car platform and the two great leaders of their party smiled and beamed, and passed the compliments of the day for a few minutes. The greetings over, Mr. Harrison entered Mr. Reid's private carriage and the party started off for Ophir Farm, Mr. Reid's country place, three miles distant. Some one in the crowd called for three cheers for Harrison and Reid and a vigorous response caused the two leaders to doff their hats to the assemblage.

Followed by a string of carriages, containing newspaper men and others, the presidential party, including Mr Carter, were driven to Ophir Farm. Then commenced the president's busy day. He had a short talk with Mr Carter and the latter left early promising to return to dinner in the evening at the invitation of Mr Reid.

Mr Carter went back to New York. Chairman Bloomfield and Treasurer Thomas of the state Republican campaign committee and Chairman Hackett of the state executive committee were early callers and spent some time with the president. Senator Nelson W Aldrich of Rhode Island was an early caller. He came to Ophir Farm on the invitation of the president. The president explained to Mr Aldrich that he wished to consult him concerning his letter of acceptance, particularly with regard to the tariff views expressed in it. In the presence of Mr Reid and Senator Aldrich, the president read so much of the letter as he had completed and Mr Aldrich made several valuable suggestions which will probably be adopted. The letter will contain about [illegible] words and will probably be completed in time to give it out for publication in the papers on Monday morning.

By far the most important visitor at Ophir Farm during the day and the only one to whose call any great political significance is attached was Thomas C. Platt. He came early and remained late. He was closeted with the president for a long time. While no one could be found to father the statement, there was a well-defined report practically sanctioned by several of the political chiefs who were at Ophir Farm to-day that Mr. Platt and the president had decided to bury the hatchet and that during the campaign Mr Platt would assist the party in every way towards securing the election of Harrison.

Mr Platt and Senator Aldrich took luncheon at Ophir Farm. Those who sat at the table besides these two, the president and Mr. Reid were Mrs Reid, Miss Reid, Miss Jean Templeton Reid and Master Ogden Reid, Private-secretary Halford, J. F. Milholland, D. O. Mills and C. W. Tilson.

Ex-Senator John C. Spooner, the candidate of the Republican party for governor of Wisconsin, paid a visit in the afternoon.

CALLED BACK TO WASHINGTON

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—President Harrison has abandoned his proposed trip through northern New York, on which he was to start from White Plains to-morrow morning and has gone back to Washington, post haste, to consult with his cabinet concerning measures advisable to repel the threatened invasion of cholera. When the guests invited by Mr Reid to meet the president at dinner at the Ophir Farm to-night had reached the mansion of the vice presidential candidate they were informed that the president had decided to return at once to Washington. ### President Harrison Visits Mr Reid

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—President Harrison arrived in this city this morning and left ... more than a half ... people being ... to get a sight of him. It required considerable maneuvering and ordering and counter ordering to accomplish the feat but it was accomplished. After a five minute stop the train left for White Plains. During the stay ... ## GEORGE WILLIAM CURTIS

His Death Occurred in New York Yesterday Morning.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—George W. Curtis died this morning a few minutes after 2 o'clock at his residence in Livingston, Staten Island. Dr Frank Curtis, his son, was in attendance and Mr and Mrs. Curtis were present. Mr Curtis became ill about two months ago when he began to complain of pains in the abdomen. There has been some talk of a cancer of the stomach, but his consulting physicians announced that it was impossible to learn the exact nature of the trouble until it made further progress or the swelling below the abdomen which had been developed subsided. They were of the opinion that there was a tendency to dropsy with other complications not then determinable. At that time Mr Curtis suffered a good deal of pain and spent much time walking up and down his room. He was told that opium would give him relief, but he declined to take the drug. His condition was not thought to be by any means critical but three days ago Mr Curtis began to sink rapidly. The pain did not recur however, and until the end he seemed able to recognize those at his bedside.

The funeral services will be held on Friday morning at the Curtis residence, and they will be private.

Mr Curtis was born in Providence, R. I., February 23, 1824. He came to New York with his father in 1839 and for a year he was a clerk in a mercantile house in this city. He with his elder brother in 1842 joined the Brook Farm community in West Roxbury and after eighteen months of study and farm labor the brothers went to Concord, where they had more experience as student farmers. In 1846 Mr Curtis made a tour of Europe and the east and returned to New York some years later. He became an editorial writer for the New York Tribune and afterwards was connected with Putnam's Monthly. In the latter enterprise he lost a great deal of money and for years afterwards worked laboriously to pay off the obligations incurred then. In 1853 he began in Harper's Monthly the department called the "Editor's Easy Chair," and continued until just previous to his death to edit this department. In 1857 Mr. Curtis became the leading editorial writer for Harper's Weekly and retained the position during the rest of his life. For many years he took a leading part in state and national politics as a Republican and served as delegate to a number of national conventions. In 1871 Mr Curtis was appointed by President Grant one of the commissioners to draw up rules for the regulation of the civil service. Since 1864 Mr. Curtis has been one of the regents of the university of the state of New York and was its chancellor at the time of his death. Among the best known of Mr Curtis' literary works are "Nile Notes of a Howadji," "Lotus Eating," "Potiphar Papers," "Trumps," a Novel," and "Prue and I."

CHASED BY A COW.

Mr Gladstone Narrowly [illegible] at Hawarden.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—While walking in Hawarden park yesterday afternoon Mr. Gladstone was thrown down and trampled by a stray cow. He was severely shaken up, but was not seriously injured.

The cow was bought by Paul Jones, one of Mr Gladstone's tenants, on Thursday at the Chester fair. She is a heavy, powerful animal and previous to the fair had suffered no restraint. She became ugly when tied in the barn and between Saturday and yesterday broke three halters. Yesterday noon she again broke loose, ran through the open door and entered the woods around Hawarden castle. Mr Jones' men, after a short pursuit, gave up the chase, although they had been warned that the cow was dangerous.

No notice was given the people in the castle that the cow was loose in the woods and in the afternoon, Mr Gladstone, after a drive with Mrs Gladstone, alighted in the park as is his custom to walk the rest of the way home. The carriage had hardly disappeared when the cow crashed through the bushes directly in front of Mr Gladstone. He stood still. As soon as the cow saw him she charged furiously. Mr Gladstone tried to dodge behind a tree, but the cow was upon him in a moment. She knocked him down, trampled him and tried to gore him, but as her horns turn back, she was unable to pierce him.

Mr Gladstone regained his presence of mind after the first shock and lay perfectly still until the cow paused for a moment, when he slid from under her, jumped and ran. The cow pursued him but he managed to keep the tree between him and her until she wearied of the chase. She scampered off, and Mr. Gladstone walked home.

He was nervous and somewhat bedraggled, but otherwise apparently unharmed. He drove in the park toward evening. To-day he attended church and but for a noticeable paleness seemed to have recovered completely.

The news of Mr Gladstone's encounter had hardly got abroad when it was learned that in the evening a guest of the castle, while out walking, had been attacked by the same cow and had been seriously injured. This morning a hunt for the cow was organized and she was shot dead by Tom Bailey, a young man of local celebrity.

One of the [illegible] in speaking of the difficulty said, "If the Carnegie company expect to operate their plants successfully they must make other arrangements or their faithful will desert them. We thought at first that we could find enough good men to operate the mills but we have found that the strikers have been just as active as we have, and as fast as we could secure men they would take them away."

A MINER KILLED

Special To The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Aug. 31.—A miner named Sherman Balster was killed at noon to-day in a tunnel near the old Thompson sawmill on Spring creek by the premature explosion of a large [illegible] giant powder. His former home was at Spring Ranch, Neb.

Another serious accident occurred to Thomas Hopkins while working in the Shenandoah. A box of giant caps exploded ... many of which ... lodged in his flesh. The ... terribly lacerated and the ... will probably prove fatal. He was working alone at the time of the accident.

A Denver Lunatic

DENVER, Aug. 31.—The Rocky Mountain News received an anonymous letter this morning in which the writer says that he is going to Pittsburg for the purpose of killing Messrs Frick, Lovejoy and Carnegie when the latter returns from Scotland. The author of the letter is very indignant at the treatment of the Homestead men and says he will kill the above named gentlemen and escape the law by taking his own life.

Killed by an Engine.

DENVER, Aug. 31.—Ernest Jefferson aged 18 was run over and killed by a Union Pacific engine at the Fortieth street yards. He attempted to get on the pilot while the engine was moving and slipped falling beneath the wheels. His father is a conductor on the Ft. Worth railroad.

Pueblo Republicans.

PUEBLO, Aug. 31.—The Republican primaries for Pueblo county to-night were largely attended. The result is very gratifying to Mr N. S. Walpole and his friends. It is claimed that he is assured of a solid delegation to the state convention for the office of state treasurer.

Claim Jumpers Make Trouble

ALAMOSA, Colo., Aug. 31.—There is a possibility of trouble at the new mining camp of Duncan. Yesterday a half dozen armed men jumped the mill site of the Nettie Mining company and declare that they will kill anyone who may attempt to retake it. The original locators have made known their intention of regaining their property and some shooting is likely to be indulged in.

AMERICANS IN PRISON

American and British Schooners Seized by Russian Officials

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 31.—The American bark Majesty from Petropaulovski reached here last evening, having on board the captains and crews of the four sealing schooners, Rosina Olsen, Ariel and Will C. Gowan, flying the British flag, and the American schooner S. C. White of San Francisco. The four were sealing off Copper island, between forty and fifty miles, during the latter part of July, when the Russian warship Zabiaka mounting sixteen guns, and the fur company's steamer Kodiak, bearing the governor of Behring island, rounded them up one by one, sent the schooners to be sold at Petropaulovski and made the captains and crews prisoners. The former objected to the seizure, claiming they were freemen, whereupon the marines picked them with the points of their bayonets and informed them there was such a place as Siberia for those who spoke too loudly of freemen. Both the British and American skippers recognized that it was no time for talking. Still they ventured to protest that they were away outside the three mile limit and were met with the astounding information from the officers of the Zabiaka that Russia is sovereign over all the water a thousand miles from her shores. The captain of the Russian cruiser based his action on the ground that Russia exercised jurisdiction over all land and water westward of the line of demarkation. After being taken aboard the Zabiaka the master of each schooner was ordered to sign a paper written in Russian and explained by the interpreter as an acknowledgment that he had been sealing in Russian waters. The skippers protested and were told that those who did not sign would be [illegible] to the Zabiaka stock to be courtmartialed and then sent to the Siberian mines. Under compulsion the captains signed, and they and their crews then underwent a taste of Russian prison life, twenty-one men being kept for days in a room 11x11 feet with a leaky roof and broken floor. The men were finally turned out on the beach and the "Majesty" coming that way a contract was entered into for transportation to American or British soil, and in the escaping the prisoners were shipped away on board, no particular effort being made by the guards to detain them. The Majesty sailed at night and next morning the Zabiaka started out another hunting cruise, the schooners being the game sought.

Nevada Republicans Split.

RENO, Nevada, Aug. 31.—The Republican state convention was called to meet at the court house this afternoon, but did not convene at that hour. Instead a conference committee composed of the chairman of each delegation spent the afternoon endeavoring to agree upon some proposition which will insure united action and harmony in the convention. The question in dispute was the nomination of a Harrison electoral ticket, or the endorsement of the nominees of the silver conference. The convention failed to agree and two conventions were called to order at separate places, one by Chairman Stroother of the Republican central committee, the other by W. C. Lord, secretary of the same committee. The former represents the straight Republicans, the latter the Weaver men. Both conventions adjourned until to-morrow.

The Court of Land Claims

SANTA FE, N. M., Aug. 31.—The court of private land claims adjourned yesterday till Nov 29th. During the August session seven land grants, aggregating 750,000 acres, were approved and one rejected. The court established the main office in Santa Fe and discontinued the term at Denver. Cases are being filed rapidly and Associate Justice Fuller will take testimony during the month of September in many cases.

"Yes, but I don't get noticed at all," replied the neglected wife. This well merited rebuke reminded the journalist of his obligations to his better half.—Texas Siftings.

GEORGE WILLIAM CURTIS.

The death of George William Curtis is a national loss. The country has none too many men who have the ability and the willingness to engage in politics who are free from the suspicion of selfishness and the short sightedness of ambition.

No man has been more sincere in his desire to correct the abuses which have arisen from partisan politics than Mr Curtis, and few, if any, have been more successful in the accomplishment of those reforms. To him is largely due the result of the civil service reform movement which has removed from the government offices many opportunities for corruption and largely increased their efficiency.

Few men have been more severely or unfairly criticized than Mr Curtis, and the bitterness of the sneers directed against him may be taken in a large degree as measuring the justice and the efficiency of his work. It was far easier for the disappointed spoilsman to sneer than to refute the merciless logic of the reformer. No man is free from fault, and no man lives without mistakes, but the sincerity of Mr. Curtis and his high purpose commanded the respect even of those who did not always agree with him.

The [illegible] which were given so freely to Mr Curtis were extended to his followers. But the Independents have decided the fate of more than one campaign, and the lesson of honest political independence which they taught, (and he first chiefly,) was needed, and has been of great benefit. Politicians all over the country select their candidates more carefully since the destruction of the old fallacy that the presence of a name on a party ticket is sufficient guarantee of ability and honesty.

As an author and an editor Mr Curtis was not without claims to appreciation, but it is as a political reformer that he will be chiefly remembered and honored. Friends of good government everywhere have reason to mourn the death of this man, friends of good government everywhere have reason to rejoice that for many years he did live and work, earnestly and successfully.

A COLORADO SPRINGS BOOK

Ever since the first tourist arrived at the foot of Pike's Peak there has been a demand for descriptions and illustrations of the scenic beauties of the region, and the demand has been increased by each one of the many improvements which have been made in Colorado Springs and its neighborhood. A great many books and pamphlets have been issued in an attempt to supply the demand, some of them better and some worse. It has remained for the present chamber of commerce and its excellent secretary, Mr George R. Buckman, to produce a work to which every [illegible] of the city can point with pride and in which each [illegible] can find a complete and truthful [illegible] and representation of the things he has seen in the Pike's Peak region.

A more detailed description of the volume will be found elsewhere. It is sufficient here to say that it is an unqualified success. It does not of course contain everything worthy of note and admiration in the Pike's Peak region but it contains enough to give a very good idea of the attractions and improvements here, and far more than any previous work of the kind. The low price of one dollar puts it within the reach of all, and there is no doubt that it will command a large circulation and general approval. As an advertisement for the town it will speak constantly wherever it goes.

The following argument in favor of protection is from the New York Sun a Democratic paper which is supporting Cleveland under the amusing assumption that the force bill is the principal issue in the present campaign:

Mr Edward F Watson of Philadelphia inquires: "Would it not be better for America to come out boldly for free trade rather than to [illegible] through a high tariff [illegible] tling here of a lot of foreign manufacturers which, in my opinion is free trade under another name"

Mr Watson does not seem to be aware that the United States is already the great free trade country in the world, since among its sixty five millions of population including the fools, there is the most entire freedom of trade without a single custom house on any dividing line between states or sections.

The ordinary common sense of the case that it is a great advantage for a country to manufacture within its own limits everything that is necessary to human existence and comfort. The country which has to import articles of necessity from abroad is weak in consequence because in time of war it may be entirely deprived of those articles. Accordingly, it has always been a great object with statesmen to bring every practicable manufacture within the boundaries of their own governments. The more manufactures, the more varied the industries carried on in any country the greater the demand for agricultural products of every sort, and the more satisfactory the reward of the farmers who raise them. For instance at the beginning of the great civil war in this country, there was not in all [illegible] a single manufactory of quinine and at one time, when we were threatened with an additional war with England, [illegible] had to face the danger of being entirely [illegible] of that [illegible] drug. In this situation [illegible] was proposed to pass a bill laying a heavy tariff imposed upon quinine; and the late Mr Stanton, one of the truest Democrats and greatest men that ever existed who was secretary of war, was an earnest advocate of the measure. The result was that the manufacture was established in this country and we have ever since been supplied with quinine made here.

Mr. Watson ought to study these subjects more carefully and then he would understand that the greater the population of the United States and the greater the number of [illegible] the better off the country will be.

The ignorance and officiousness of certain Russian officials in northeastern Asia has given rise to an incident that will be of international interest. If the facts are as reported there is no doubt that the arrest of the crews of the sealing vessels was a gross violation of international rights. There is no reason to believe that there was any malice on the part of those responsible for the acts of the government and it may be taken for granted that prompt reparation will be made [illegible]. This is especially true so far as the United States is concerned. Much however, will depend on the way in which the request for an explanation is made. If England so desire the [illegible] it may easily be made of supreme importance and its consequences [illegible] the entire world. It is probable however that the matter will not go beyond the province of diplomacy.

Every precaution that science and medical skill can suggest will be observed to prevent the introduction of cholera into this country. The arrival in New York harbor of a ship having the dread disease on board shows how real is the danger that threatens the people of the eastern cities. It will also have the effect of stimulating the health officers to renewed efforts to prevent the introduction of the disease. It is to be hoped that the precautions which modern science is able to suggest will be able to keep it out altogether or to reduce its effect to a minimum. Certainly there is no reason to apprehend the occurrence of such a pestilence as has recently devastated the cities of Russia. The cleanliness of many American cities, however, leaves much to be desired and measures of sanitary precaution in this line should be at once taken.

The Denver News is doing its worst to make people outside the state believe that Colorado is half ruined, poverty stricken and the last place in the country to which a capitalist or a home seeker ought to come. The statements of the News are wholly false, but they are calculated to do great harm to the state. And even if there were any foundation for its absurd statements it fails utterly to show how any benefit is to be derived from voting for the party of greenbacks and nationalism.

If we had government control of railroads, according to the plan of the Greenback party, no railroads would be constructed unless they could pay interest on the investment from the start. This would put an end to railroad building in the west. Very few of our lines could have been built except by faith in the future growth of the country. The government ownership of railroads would paralyze the development of many sections of the west.

There is no confidence in El Paso county in the "and silver" platform of the Greenback party. The sugar coating is not thick enough for the dose of nasty drugs it contains.

A Remarkable Race of People

In Sumatra there is a very singular race of human beings called the Kubus. They are the most timid and bashful people in the world, being too shy to mingle with the other races of the island. They dwell in the darkest recesses of the mountain forests and have seldom been seen by white men. One has never been known to willingly face a stranger. This being the case their trade with the Malayans is carried on in a very strange way. The trader announces his arrival by beating a gong and then retires from the place of rendezvous. The shy Kubus then approach, put their forest treasures on the ground, beat the trader's gong and retreat. The trader then returns and lays his commodities down in quantities sufficient to pay the purchase price of the goods on sale.

He then disappears for a second time—this giving the Kubus a chance to return and consider the bargain. After many withdrawals, approaches, gong beating, etc, an understanding is arrived at and each party carries away his bargain. This remarkable race know nothing of a supreme being, heaven, hell or evil demons. They have no system of marriage and never bury their dead. They live on snakes, ants, bugs, grubs, etc.—St Louis Republic.

Putting on Airs.

Some one has said that one half the misery of life at least if not more, comes to people from not being able to make both ends meet, and yet how unnecessary is the nervous strain and worry of mind which arise from the senseless attempt to keep up in the midst of fashionable people [illegible] appearances which [illegible] come! If it does happen that some [illegible] well with getting it on [illegible] bright people with small means are thrown in the way of wealthy acquaintances, [illegible] ways let it be with frankness and with open acceptation of the fact.

Putting on airs is detrimental to self respect. Much better to say at once "We cannot afford [illegible]" never apologizing for the smallness of the house or the lack of domestics, never pretending to be other than you are. In this way and this only can those who do much of their own work in unpretentious homes find intercourse with their wealthy neighbors agreeable.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Mixed His Speech.

"What?" screamed Mrs. Jones.

"[illegible]," Mrs Jones sternly, "you have been drinking."

"I have not," asserted Mr Jones. "Can't you answer a civil question? Who has borrowed our lower mawn?"

Mrs Jones came down stairs and looked at the excited man ever. Then she suggested:

DEATH OF A LEADER.

SLADE DIED FOR TREASON AGAINST MONTANA TERRITORY.

A Story of the Vigilante Days when Montana Was but a Territory. A Hanging That Was Summary and Must Have Taught a Lesson to Lawless Men.

I was chief of the vigilance committee, and we had successfully engineered about forty or fifty hangings when we became imbued with the idea that a little more lawful form of government would be to the better interests of our camp, Virginia City then having about 10,000 population. So one evening we gathered together on the outskirts of the town in an informal mass meeting and proceeded to choose from among ourselves officers for our local government. Our organization was the simplest thing in the world. We would turn to one of our members and say, "You are a pretty square sort of fellow, and we know you to be as straight as a string, so we elect you our judge," and to another, "You are a heavy built chap and have plenty of grit and you shall be marshal." I was district attorney because I had a smattering of law and it was upon my affidavits that all warrants were issued.

Our court was respected by all the citizens of Virginia City—Montana. That is, most all of them. For a time all went well, but after awhile when they found [illegible] so frequently [illegible] here the lawless element grew bolder and more [illegible]. The leader of this tough party for a period was Mr. Slade. One morning after we had organized our court news came that Mr Slade and his chosen friends had spent a night at a disreputable house and in the morning destroyed it. We sent our marshal with instructions to arrest Slade [illegible] to court. In due time they both appeared, Slade peaceable enough and very gentlemanly. After hearing the case the court imposed a fine of twenty five dollars which was cheerfully paid by the defendant and he [illegible] treat. I mean he asked us all to come and have a drink. Not long after that Slade was again before us charged with the same offense. This time the fine was doubled and paid with the same degree of alacrity which had marked the previous payment.

On one occasion when the fine had reached the sum of $400 Mr Slade said he had not that amount with him but would bring it in the next time he came to town. He acknowledged our power and did not care for money, as he was a man who made it easily. Well he came to town several times after that but did not offer to pay the $400. It was not in his nature to long remain quiet and soon he was again in trouble for a like offense. Our marshal brought him to the courtroom which was a portion of the grocery store with barrels of flour and grain around the floor and bacon and hams suspended from rafters. We used soap boxes instead of chairs, and were not a very imposing assemblage. Mr Slade came in peaceably enough and stood quietly while the court directed the marshal to read the warrant.

As the marshal pulled out the document Slade, quick as a flash, sprang at him and jerked it out of his hands, at the same time leveling a revolver at the heart of his honor. It was all done in a second, and the six or eight henchmen of the tough had also drawn their pistols at the same time. "Now," said Mr Slade, "I am about tired of this business. I am not going to be drained any more and I am not going to recognize your authority, nor shall I pay that $400. I shall hold you personally responsible for my personal safety, and if any of your committee attempts to touch me I will blow your heart out."

While he was speaking I was thinking, and before he had concluded quietly turned and walked out as if thinking of something else. I walked out on the street and the first man I met was a member of our vigilance committee. I explained the situation to him and asked him to get on his horse and ride to a camp about two miles away and tell the boys we needed them. He set off in post haste and I turned back toward the courtroom. Just as I turned around I came face to face with Slade and his followers who had walked boldly out of court soon after I came away. "Come in and have something, Sanders," called the irrepressible. I said to him "Slade get on your horse and go home as fast as you can."

"What do you mean? Why do you tell me that?" demanded Slade.

"Never mind what I mean," I replied, "get on your horse and go home."

He didn't get on his horse and go home but he got on his horse and rode all through the town bringing up at last at the courtroom. He was inclined to be very proud of his defiance of the orders of the court, and was insulting to his honor, who was still there. He was swaggering around the store when I happened to look out of the window and saw that the house was surrounded by armed men. The next minute they were in the room and one of them was saying: "We want you, Mr Slade." He turned pale and weakened at once. A crowd of his captors surrounded him, and I left him safe in their keeping. I went home and was not there five minutes when one of the vigilantes came up and said: "Mr Sanders the boys have about concluded that they won't be bothered with Mr Slade any longer, and as there is no place to keep him safely they are going to hang him whether the court wills it or not." I hurried to the courtroom and saw the judge and the marshal and several others, and after a conference we agreed that as Slade was bound to hang whether by our wishes or not, it was better to have him executed by order of the court and thus preserve our hold on the community.

We sentenced him to death for high treason for inciting others to rebellion and for himself seeking to overthrow our form of government. When Slade heard of this he sent a messenger for me to come to him at once and make a speech in his behalf. I knew that it would be worse than useless for me to do so and refused to go on a fool's errand. Then he sent me to our judge with a similar request but the judge knowing that he was powerless to prevent the execution declined to see him. So Mr Slade was taken to a hill overlooking a gulch and a noose from a gallows (used to slaughter sheep) slipped around his neck and a barrel placed under him. Just as he was about to be swung off the noise of a horse's hoofs was heard and a mounted woman appeared in the distance coming at a breakneck speed. It was Slade's wife but by the time she arrived upon the scene around which many people were gathered the barrel had been kicked from under him and Mr Slade was no more.

That is the story of the execution in a singular manner—Senator Sanders in interview in Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

A CLEAR CASE.

It has been proven beyond all question of a doubt that Oregon Kidney Tea will cure all cases kidney and urinary troubles, pains in the back, diabetes, inflammation of the bladder, nervousness and all complaints arising from a diseased or debilitated state of the kidneys or urinary organs of either sex.

The drinking of alkali or impure water will in time weaken and derange the urinary organs of the strongest constitutions, bringing on a diseased condition that may in time prove disastrous, but this evil effect of bad water or change of climate may be counteracted by the use of Oregon Kidney Tea. It is pleasant to take, and a trial will convince you of its merits.

REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES.

Not Much in the Field, but a Large Vote Taken

The Republican primaries to select delegates to the county convention next Saturday were held all over the county yesterday. In this city the polls were open in the five wards from 3 to 6 p m. The election was very quiet, as there was no contest of any consequence. A ticket appeared bearing a list of delegates for each ward and went through without opposition, excepting in one case. The whole number of votes cast was 189, an unusually large number. Quite a number of young voters came out to show their preferences for the first time. No information was received in regard to the outside precincts last evening.

The name of Thomas Shideler was placed on the ticket for justice of the peace, but the friends of Mr L B Farrar turned out late in the afternoon and gave him a good vote for the place. Mr Shideler was nominated however. Mr William Saxton for constable received a practically unanimous vote and was nominated.

FIRST WARD

Twenty votes were cast in the First ward and the following delegates were chosen: Moses T Hale, F F Roby, S J Dunbar, Wm Strieby, H M Blackmer, J M Ellison, L C Perkins.

SECOND WARD

Forty four votes were cast in the Second ward. Following are the delegates: E.S. Bumstead, J F Seldomridge, Thos. Ord, L. C. Dana, S H Kinsley, G S Barnes, C C Hoyt, J K Goudy, Edgar Howbert, W S Nichols, M B Irvine, Delos Durfee.

THIRD WARD

Twenty nine was the highest number of votes cast in this ward and the following were selected delegates: A H Whaite, D B Fairley, C Gillingham, A B Currie, E T Marsh, A J Smith, Robert W Steele.

FOURTH WARD

In the Fourth ward twenty six votes were cast, electing the following delegates: Ira G Sprague, E. G Perkins, M V Andre, John Himebaugh, W M Banning, J H. Campbell, F A. Sperry, J C Parsons, Paul Bernard.

FIFTH WARD.

Sixteen was the highest vote that any candidate got in the Fifth ward. Following are the delegates: J A Leech, W. A Conant, C E Smith, M. A Connar, Frank Cotten.

| | Shideler | Farrar |
|---|---|---|
| First ward | 11 | 9 |
| Second ward | 32 | 2 |
| Third ward | 21 | 8 |
| Fourth ward | 19 | 26 |

A HANDSOME BOOK.

The New Publication Just Issued by the Chamber of Commerce of this City

To make a study of a region as diversified in scenic attractions as the country about Pike's Peak, to write a description in which no point of scenic or business interest is neglected, to choose over 100 of the best points for illustration, to find the best vantage ground for the photographer and to weave all this into a dainty, beautiful interesting book—this is what Mr Buckman has accomplished.

The first copies of "Colorado Springs, Colorado and its Famous Scenic Environs," reached this city yesterday. The number of books was small and they were quickly distributed. A larger consignment will arrive in a few days. Everyone who saw the book was delighted with it, with the descriptive matter, the pictures, the arrangement and the workmanship. The book is 8x11 inches in size and contains eighty pages. There are fifteen full page illustrations, of which six are photogravures of the finest kind, the views being so selected as to embrace leading scenic attractions. The photogravures are much finer than pictures by this process usually are. In fact, most of them have the softness of the photographs, [illegible] While it is chiefly devoted to Colorado Springs its pages contain descriptions and copious illustrations of all the things which attract to this region, Colorado City, Manitou, Williams's Canon, the Pike's Peak railway, Ute Pass and the Ute Pass resorts are as fully described and illustrated as are the views which more closely appertain to this city.

The book is appropriately introduced by Ernest Whitney's poem on Colorado Springs and H H's tribute to Cheyenne mountain and Stanley Wood's to Cheyenne canon are reproduced with pictures of the places which inspired them. The rest of the reading matter is Mr Buckman's. It leaves the pictures to tell their own story where they can, but otherwise it is a complete review, in well chosen words, of the region, its beauties, its riches and its attractions.

The workmanship is excellent. The pictures are all clear and sharp in outline. The type is handsome and the paper and binding are of the best. At the price of $1.00 the books will probably be issued hardly fast enough for the demand.

On the corner of the book is the title and a view of Pike's Peak from Austin Bluff, with cedar trees in the foreground. Above the first page of text is a narrow panel showing "the crest of the Pike's Peak range," the mountains from Pike's Peak to Mt. Rosa. The pictures of this city include the leading hotels and business blocks, many of the finest residences, exteriors and interiors of the El Paso club, a fine view of Pike's Peak across Prospect Lake, a panorama of the town from the roof of the Deaf Blind school, the city schools, the Casino, Cheyenne Lake, the Country club, the Printers Home, hospitals and sanitariums, the depots, the parks, Nevada avenue, the churches and interior of the opera house and views of the streets. In Manitou the town itself, the bottling works and much of the scenery is illustrated. Colorado City and the glass works is clearly shown in a full page picture, while scattered everywhere are delicate little pictures of little nooks and corners of scenery. There are 122 pictures in all. The first edition numbers 2,000 copies and they sell for $1.00 each.

The new furnace at the Colorado City Glass Works was fired for the first time on Tuesday and glass blowing began at 12 o'clock last night.

MILWAUKEE, Aug 31.—The Democratic state convention to-day was called to order by State-chairman E C. Wall at noon. He announced ex-Congressman Burr W Jones as temporary chairman, who made a vigorous speech, which was liberally applauded at many points. He presented the financial results of the Democratic stewardship of the state for two years, as specifically set forth in the platform subsequently adopted. He dwelt at length on the Bennett law issue and discussed the tariff. After the appointment of the usual committees the convention took a recess until the middle of the afternoon when the temporary organization was made permanent. The platform which was adopted with a hurrah is a specific record of the Democratic administration of the past two years on which the party will go before the tax payers. It calls attention to the saving of $50,000 in legislative and administrative expenses, $52,000 in the [illegible] of state institutions [illegible] that the state treasurer now holds a general fund of $330,000 against a deficiency which existed two years ago; that interest on bank deposits by the state of $40,000 has been converted into the treasury and trust funds have been properly and promptly invested for the benefit of schools instead of bearing interest for office holders.

Suits have been vigorously prosecuted to establish the right of the people to the interest earned by their money paid to treasurers and that right has been adjudged and finally fastened upon the two last treasurers to the amount of more than $35,000 of interest money appropriated by them and upon the same basis of computation an aggregate liability will result in the actions now pending of more than $725,000.

The Bennett law has been repealed and the Democrats of Wisconsin have shown their loyalty to the cause of popular education in practical form by adding over $100,000 to the school fund income and by increasing the appropriations to the state university of over $80,000 for the next six years.

Other resolutions condemn the doctrine of centralization and paternalism and interfering with the rights of conscience and religion, oppose sumptuary legislation and give assurance of no relinquishment of the rights of the people against the defaulting state treasurers. The action of the national convention in nominating Cleveland and Stevenson is endorsed and cheerful allegiance given to the principles enunciated by the Chicago platform.

The platform which was read by E. B Usher was adopted unanimously after which nominations were made and T F Frawley of Eau Claire moved to renominate the whole ticket of state officers and made a speech. Mr Seaman seconded the motion which was adopted by a rising vote.

The ticket is as follows: Governor, George W Peck of Milwaukee county; lieutenant governor, Carl Jonas of Racine; secretary of state, T J. Cunningham of Chippewa; state treasurer, John Hunner of Eau Claire; attorney general, James L. O'Connor of Dane; state superintendent, O E. Wells of Outagamie; railroad commissioner, Thos Thompson of Trempeleau; insurance commissioner, W M Root of Sheboygan.

After the nominating speeches a short recess from the regular order was taken to allow Adjutant-general J B. Doe and Congressman J L. Mitchell to address the convention. At the close of Mr Mitchell's speech the committee that had been sent after the nominees showed up. The present state officers in their order from governor down, entered the hall and proceeded to the platform headed by Governor Peck, the convention rising to its feet and cheering. Governor Peck made a short address on Democratic principles generally. He was followed by Attorney general O'Connor and Lieutenant-governor Jones, State treasurer Hunner, Secretary of state Cunningham, Superintendent of public instruction O E. Wells, Insurance-commissioner Root and Railroad-commissioner Thompson. The gentlemen in return were received with applause by the convention and at the close of the speechmaking the chairman announced the names that had been decided upon for the new state committee to serve during the ensuing two years beginning January 1st.

For chairman of the new state central committee, the present chairman, E. C Wall, was selected without a dissenting voice. Thus the Democratic ticket was made up and the state central committee, with the old chairman at its head, without opposition or the slightest manifestation of disapproval from top to bottom and the convention adjourned.

Senator Allison's Speech

WAVERLY, Ia., Aug 31.—Senator Allison opened the Iowa Republican campaign here this afternoon in a carefully prepared speech of fully three hours in length. He was favored with a large audience and all the conditions of favorable weather and other essentials of success. The speech dealt entirely with national politics and was chiefly [illegible] of the record of the present congress. Senator Allison's views on the tariff as expressed to-day show him to have made progress towards the extreme views of McKinley. It is given out by the Republican state committee that the speech delivered here to-day will be widely circulated in the state and will be the standard document of its literary bureau. It is about the only speech the senator will deliver this campaign as he is soon to go abroad to represent the government at the international monetary conference.

New York Stock Market.

NEW YORK, Aug 31.—Money on call loaned easy at 2½ per cent, closing at 2. Stocks were very dull this morning. New England, Burlington, Atchison, Reading, Erie, St Paul, Sugar Trust and Northern Pacific preferred were the most active. New England opened firm and advanced ½ per cent and then sold rapidly down 1 per cent on the announcement that Mr Gould had refused to serve as director. The general list declined in sympathy but only fractionally. At noon prices were slightly changed from those of yesterday. The sales for the morning amounted to 91,518 shares.

After midday the market was more active. There was considerable selling of the leading stocks. Something of a scare developed because of the arrival of the cholera and the bears took advantage of it to attack the list, declaring that many brokers would leave their [illegible] and sell out their holdings. The lowest prices of the day were current.

The decline ranged from [illegible] per cent. The sales for the day amounted to [illegible] shares.

The Epidemic in Germany

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—The thermometer has fallen to 70 degs Fahrenheit to-day and there have been several light showers. The air is cooler to-night than it has been in the last ten days. Nevertheless the abatement has not been so considerable as to bring much comfort to the stricken city. Fresh cases to-day are 681 and deaths 2[illegible]. The decrease in the number of fresh cases since yesterday is forty-two, in the number of deaths forty five. These figures do not agree, however, with the reports of the Hamburg officials who have reduced the number of deaths to forty-five. The city government has thus again declared for the fatuous policy of suppressing the facts and its reports are received with ridicule. The number of burials has fallen from 3[illegible]5 to 3[illegible]. Reports of an abatement of the panic, in consequence of the lower death rate to-day, are untrustworthy. They emanate from official sources and are part of the general idea of concealing the situation. The people are too thoroughly frightened to be reassured by a slight change which is likely to be succeeded to-morrow with a return of the high temperature, by an increase of the plague.

The flight of persons who constitute the city's business and social world continues. About ten thousand persons left on the railways to-day. All those were citizens with their families, as non-residents practically deserted the city early in the week. Most of them left in such haste that their baggage will be sent after them. Porters have left their posts and the transportation companies are too shorthanded to handle half the baggage of the fugitives, so that most families going away are obliged to leave behind what they themselves cannot carry.

Many persons are among the victims to-day and the delivery of the mails has been much retarded. A postal official said to-day that the business of the postoffice has fallen off 50 per cent in the last few days. All the factories in operation are working shorthanded and many factories have been closed for an indefinite period. Families of workmen thrown out of employment have begun applying for aid. In the harbor district great want is already apparent. If not speedily [illegible] it will facilitate the progress of the plague among the ill-nourished poor.

The number of physicians attending cholera patients is quite inadequate. This state of affairs was apparent several days ago, but the municipal authorities neglected to call for aid from other towns. The physicians who have been among the stricken from the first are now worn out by overwork and there are few at hand to take their places. Almost a third of the deaths to-day are said to have taken place before any medical aid could be secured. In the harbor district only about four patients among seven are able to secure physicians to treat them. There is also great difficulty in getting enough nurses to replace those retiring from the hospital, being worn out by the killing work imposed upon them in the last ten days. The most urgent appeals for help have come this afternoon from the suburbs Horn and Hammerbrook, where the people have died by the dozen since day break. Nurses, doctors, and health officers are said to have left these suburbs almost unnoticed and whole families have been wiped out without having had a word of advice or a prescription.

The harm done in Northern Germany by official incompetency here is enormous. The persons fleeing from the city in the last five days have carried the infection to twenty-three other North German towns. The breaking out of the plague has been due entirely to the arrivals in these towns from this port.

The Kansas Campaign.

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 1.—The Republican campaign was inaugurated in this state to-day with an opening rally in each congressional district. The Republican candidates for congress were present at the rallies in their respective districts and speeches were made by the most prominent orators of the state. The weather was pleasant all over the state and great crowds came out to all the meetings. The largest meeting was at Emporia, in the fourth district, where Senator Perkins and ex-Congressman Peters were the speakers. It is estimated that 5000 people were present. A W Smith the Republican candidate for governor, and ex Governor Geo. T Anthony spoke at the fifth district rally at Salina. J. B. Lynch an engineer on the Atchison road who is the Republican candidate for state treasurer and Governor Humphrey were the principal speakers at Chanute. The seventh district rally was held at Hutchinson, Chester I. Long, the Republican candidate against Jerry Simpson was the principal speaker. Ex-congressman E. N. Morrill and E. W. Hoch addressed 5000 people of the fifth district. The first district rally was held at Holton, the home of Congressman Broderick, who spoke both afternoon and evening. Speeches were also made by U. S. district attorney J. W. Ady and Charles B. Graves. Over 8000 people were at the second district rally at Fort Scott. Congressman Funston Judge J. C. Strang and F. B. Dawes were the speakers.

BROKE ASUNDER.

TWENTY LIVES WERE LOST

[illegible] Vessel Broke [illegible] [illegible] Which Were Capsized

[illegible]

[illegible] Captain Peter Minch, the owner of the Western Reserve [illegible] and settled [illegible] his large vessel interests. The present trip was intended as a pleasure trip for himself and family and several friends. The Western Reserve was a steel steamer of [illegible] tons. She was owned by P. G. Minch and others of Cleveland, rated and valued at $200,000. Her boilers were inspected recently and repairs were ordered [illegible] had not yet been made.

HOW IT HAPPENED.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Sept 1.—The steel steamer Western Reserve foundered sixty miles off White Fish Point about 9 p m Thursday night. She passed the Soo Tuesday and a heavy gale prevailed, but she did not mind it but plunged ahead. When about sixty miles off White Fish Point the sea was terribly roughed and suddenly, without a moment's warning, the great steel structure broke in two amidships. The yawls were lowered but the operation took some time as it was the first time they had ever been used. Captain Peter Minch, his wife and children and five of the crew got into the first boat and the rest of the crew, seventeen in number, in the other. The first boat sank almost immediately and only two of its occupants were rescued by the other boat. The steamer sank less than ten minutes after they left her. The second boat headed for shore and rowed almost fifty miles, when only ten miles from shore their boat capsized and but one, Harry Stewart, managed to reach shore. He swam to White Fish point, procured a boat and rowed along the shore until he signalled a passing ship, which took him on board and brought him here.

Harry Stewart reached here to-night on the fishing Emba and when seen gave the following particulars: "I have seen a great deal more severe storms on Lake Superior and cannot account for the breaking in two of our vessel, its machinery and boilers were all right. It was certainly the pounding it got. After our yawl left the boat we went back to it and took off the Captain's son and two watchmen. I was in the water for two hours. Our other yawl, a metallic one, was picked up by the Emba in bad condition. There were twenty-seven people on the boat, twenty-one of the crew and six passengers.

"When the boat capsized I was thrown out forward and could not see any of the struggle for life going on about me. The boat's machinery was working when it went down. There were no words said by anyone. All they were thinking about was saving their lives. The boat capsized ten miles above Lifesaving station No. 12, too far from the station for the crew to be of any help. The crew started up the shore to look for the bodies as soon as I got there. I did not see any of the wreckage, but the metallic life-boat which is now at Deer Park. The only one I saw get into the metallic boat was the chief engineer. I had a life belt or would not have reached the shore. There were three others had jackets besides the two women. I was in bed when the boat broke in two. When I got to shore I laid on the beach and was unable to rise being fagged out. I am 24 years old and have been sailing on the lakes for five years. It was a most pitiable sight before we took to the yawls to see Mr. Minch's daughter begging for a life jacket. Two of the bodies were ashore near station No. 12 this afternoon, one with sandy whiskers, sprinkled with gray supposed to be the captain, the other light complexion, supposed to be the cook."

A Mining Disaster

BRUSSELS, Sept. 1.—A mine explosion, resulting in great loss of life, occurred to-day at Borage, in the province of Hainault. The Agrappe coal mine was the scene of the disaster, which was caused by accumulated gas. The noise of the explosion was heard for a great distance and a column of coal dust shot up from the main shaft. Men were at once put to work to rescue the living and ascertain the number of dead.

Twenty five persons were killed and eight mortally wounded. The mine is the property of the Rothschilds and accidents there have been frequent. One hundred and twenty one miners were killed by an accident in this mine on the third of May last, and another calamity in 1879 destroyed 123 lives.

International Reciprocity Convention.

GRAND FORKS, N. D., Sept 1.—The international reciprocity convention assembled this morning at the Metropolitan theater with 400 delegates in attendance. The morning trains brought large delegations from Duluth, West Superior, Minneapolis, St. Paul and interior towns in Minnesota, Wisconsin and North Dakota. The convention was called to order by George B Clifford, president of the Grand Forks chamber of commerce. President Clifford delivered an eloquent address of welcome in [illegible] the purpose of the convention. He said: "In calling this convention, we had of course no fixed basis of representation to work upon and our only plan was to get as full an attendance as was possible from the various sections interested, and in [illegible] our brethren from across the line we expected to give them an equal voice in the deliberations and decisions of the convention regardless of numerical representations. Therefore [illegible] resolutions can be adopted or action taken except by mutual consent of the delegates from both countries, on this basis it is certain that the proceedings of this meeting will be characterized by that harmony that is assured by mutual relations.

James Fisher of Winnipeg was elected temporary chairman and escorted to the platform by E. V. Smalley of St Paul and [illegible] of West Superior. On taking the chair, Mr. Fisher [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] par[illegible]

An Approaching Contest

NEW ORLEANS, Sept 1.—By the end of the present week all of the principals in the approaching fights will either be in New Orleans or only a few miles away except Jim Corbett the Californian who will be the last to arrive. Myer is due to-morrow night, Sullivan will put in his appearance on Saturday evening and McAuliffe Skelly and Dixon are just across the bay and will come to town either Sunday or Monday. President Campbell of the Southern Athletic club will appoint a committee to meet Corbett at the train and escort him to the club. The club does not intend to quarter Corbett, but Agent Fournier and friends of the pugilist have arranged for his entertainment. Corbett is to stop at the residence of a member of the Southern Athletic club and will be only two squares away from the club gymnasium. He will spend Tuesday between his room and the gymnasium. The announcement is made that Corbett will not reach here until Tuesday morning. The reason given is that Corbett's friends do not wish him subjected to the danger of an attack of malaria. The Sullivan special, as already announced, is to get here Saturday evening. President Noel will appoint a committee of the Olympic club to meet the champion at the train and take him to his temporary quarters. Arrangements are being made to secure quarters for Sullivan on Rampart street near the Young Men's Gymnasium club and it is quite likely that the big fellow, for the few days he is in town, will have the same rooms he occupied when he stopped here just before the Kilrain fight. Mr. William Reynolds, who is putting up a small fortune on Arnold or Skelly, arrived this morning from over the lake and says everything is going on swimmingly at the Robertson quarters and that Skelly is in good condition to fight. Reynolds' confidence in Skelly is sublime. He came over to make some arrangements touching the arrival of his man in town on Monday. Joseph Dare and a committee from the Olympic Club will meet Billy Meyer at the Illinois Central to-morrow night. Of course there will be a big delegation of the public also on hand. Meyer is to be taken at once to Carrollton, where preparations are being made to-day to receive him and where he is to remain until it is time for him to appear on Monday at the Olympic club. Col. T. N. Boylan, of the police agency, is to entertain during the night Inspector Byrnes, the famous New York detective, who is coming down to see the big fight and who is a friend of Sullivan.

Lizzie Borden Held for Trial

FALL RIVER, Mass., Sept. 1.—The hearing in the case of Lizzie Borden was closed to-day. After the lawyers on each side had made their argument Judge Blaisdell said sympathy should be laid aside and stern duty required but one thing to be done. Supposing a man was seen in the chamber of Mrs. Borden and that he was in the room of the father when death came. Suppose a man should tell as many stories as Lizzie had done, the say would be plain, "I find she is probably guilty." She was ordered remanded to the county jail at Taunton for trial at the November term.

The President will Leave Washington

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—In view of the very thorough arrangements which have been made by federal officers for protecting the United States from the Asiatic cholera, President Harrison does not deem it necessary that he should remain in Washington longer and unless some unforeseen emergency occurs he may see fit to return direct to Loon Lake to-morrow and spend next week with Mrs. Harrison. If this plan is adopted the president will probably leave the mountains on the 12th inst, and on his way south deliver the campaign speeches for which he was booked on his expected return from White Plains to Loon Lake.

A Train Robber's Mistake.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 1.—This evening at 9:20 a masked man flagged an eastbound freight train of the Missouri Pacific road at Dead Man's Curve just west of Lee's Summit. When he saw it was a freight train he ran into the bushes. As the freight was running ahead of the eastbound passenger train's time it is supposed that the man made a mistake. The country is now being searched by officers.

Threw Up their Job.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 1.—The sixteen switchmen employed by the suburban belt road, quit work this morning and asked for the money due them. The men say it is not a strike, that they simply threw up their jobs, and any men who want them are welcome to them. The men were getting $55 a month, while the standard pay of switchmen is $2.50 for a day of ten hours.

CONTRACT SIGNED.

TO PRICE AND McGAVOCK

General Manager Collbran Telegraphs the News. The Road will First Build to Midland. A Narrow Guage Line Over the Hills

The Midland road will be built into the Cripple Creek mining district. President Manvel of the Santa Fe signed the contract yesterday for constructing the line from Rhyolyte to Midland and the firm of Price & McGavock of Pueblo secured the work.

The matter of building a line of railroad into the new mining camp of Cripple Creek has been [illegible] The Colorado Midland had surveys made two or three months ago and in July asked for bids for doing the grading. There the matter seemed to halt for a time and there was much speculation as to whether the line would ever be built. Last week General manager Collbran of the Midland received a telegram from President Manvel to come to Chicago and the matter would be definitely settled. Before his departure Mr Collbran said that there had been no question for a long time but that the road would built, only Mr. Manvel wished to be satisfied that the right route was taken. Yesterday the following telegram was received at the general offices in this city:

CHICAGO, September 1, 1892.

President Manvel signed contract to-day with Price & McGavock for the immediate construction of the Cripple Creek branch. Work will be commenced in ten days from date.

(Signed) [illegible] H COLLBRAN.

From parties familiar with Midland affairs it is learned that the Midland proper will not build into camp, but only to the new town of Midland, on Oil creek near where it joins Four Mile creek. This is about nine miles in length and will be built on a 4 per cent. maximum grade. It is not stated what the contract price for doing the work is, but it is said is under the estimates of the engineers. This part of the road will not be very difficult to construct, nor very expensive. From Four Mile creek to Fremont is the rough part of the country to be traveled and here the Midland stops for the present at least. Anyone who is familiar with the country can understand how very expensive it would be to build a broad guage railroad from this point into camp, and how any railroad builder would hesitate before granting a line unless assured of large returns for many years to come. Here is where a part of the scheme comes in that has never before been given to the public. Last week articles of incorporation of the Midland Terminal Railroad company were filed for record. This is to be a narrow guage route from Midland into the camp. It is to be constructed by a company entirely separate from the Midland railroad, but will naturally operate in conjunction with it. The line is to be constructed with a road bed of only two feet guage, and will be able to easily climb over the big hills into camp at a much less cost. Not only that, but the company propose to construct lines to Beaver Park, Barry, Lawrence and even to some of the largest mines.

This announcement is of the utmost importance to Cripple Creek camp, and especially to the portion on Four Mile creek. Fuller particulars of the plans of the company cannot be given at present, but the announcement that the construction of the line as far as Midland will be begun within ten days will undoubtedly have a stimulating effect on Cripple Creek mining. It is thought that it will require about two months to construct the Midland portion of the line.

A Democratic Campaign.

CHICAGO, Sept 1.—The Democratic campaign of [illegible] in the west [illegible] fairly opened to-day when Don M. Dickinson, chairman of the campaign committee of the national [illegible] representatives of seven [illegible] states and a plan of campaign was laid out. The seven states in which the democracy [illegible] to push the fight are Illinois, [illegible] Wisconsin, [illegible] Iowa [illegible] Mr Dickinson [illegible] in the [illegible] of the western [illegible] important work to perform in New York and will leave the [illegible] campaign in the hands of Mr. Cable, of Illinois and Wall of Wisconsin. Mr. Dickinson's proxy as a member of the sub-committee will probably be given to either [illegible] J. Campau, chairman of the Michigan Democratic state central committee and member of the national committee from the state, or Jas S. Ewing, Adlai E. Stevenson's law partner, who arrived in the city this morning to take part in the conference. Mr. Ewing brought with him the personal wishes of Mr Stevenson that Mr. Ewing be given a place on the management of the campaign. The chances are that Mr Ewing will succeed Mr Dickinson, inasmuch as Mr. Campau already has his hands full of representing affairs in Michigan. The affairs of the national committee present or represented by proxy were Mr [illegible] Doran of Minnesota, W C. Teistekow of North Dakota, James M. Woods of South Dakota, J. J. Richardson of Iowa, Daniel J. Campau of Michigan, Ben Cable of Illinois, and E. C. Wall of Wisconsin. The conference was informal. Mr Dickinson is an enthusiast on the subject of western headquarters and said that as chairman of the campaign committee he would see to it that the western headquarters [illegible] all the [illegible] from the [illegible] Mr. Whitney, Mr. Smalley, Mr. Quinn, and Senators Mann, [illegible] and Brice, he said, were all heartily in favor of pushing the fight in the west and would cordially co-operate with the western committee.

[illegible]

VINCENNES, Ind., Sept. 1.—The Democrats of Indiana had their first opportunity of meeting Candidate Adlai E. Stevenson to-day, the occasion being a reception at the Grand hotel this forenoon. Several hundred persons filed through the parlors of the hotel and shook the hand of the distinguished Illinoisan until dinner time.

The afternoon meeting on Court House square was attended by 5000 people. All the available space within the court house enclosure was occupied, and although the enclosure [illegible] there was no perceptible diminution in the size of the crowd at any time. All the speakers unite in saying that it was the most [illegible] they had ever addressed. The platform [illegible] above the [illegible] and was gaily decorated with flags and streamers. Hon. Martin J. L. Buck, speaker of the Indiana house of representatives, called the [illegible] and introduced as chairman the Hon. [illegible] P. Gray. Ex-Governor Gray [illegible] He [illegible] first speaker, General Stevenson, and in presenting the candidate for the vice presidency to the audience he remarked: "I have the honor of introducing one of the best men for whom you have been offered the privilege of casting your votes. The reason why I say that is he beat me for the nomination of the office and I do not think you will charge me with egotism that when I say it takes an exceedingly good man to beat me."

General Stevenson then made a speech, lasting but little more than half an hour.

Letters of Acceptance

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—It is understood that President Harrison's letter of acceptance will be [illegible] Mr. [illegible] by next. Mr Whitelaw Reid's will follow about Sept 15. Mr Cleveland has not yet indicated when his letter of acceptance will be given out, but it is expected to be made public not later than Sept 20.

Public Debt Statement

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The public debt statement issued from the treasury department to-day shows a decrease in the debt during the last month amounting to $1,[illegible] There was an increase of $700, in the interest bearing debt, a decrease of $153,215 in the non interest bearing debt, and an increase of $2,[illegible] cash balance or surplus during the month. The surplus to-day including the one hundred millions gold, greenback redemption fund, is $129,152,344. The treasury to-day holds $242,543,696 in gold coin and gold bullion against which there are $128,387,[illegible] gold certificates outstanding. Silver assets aggregate $454,403,178 against which there are silver certificates and treasury silver notes outstanding amounting to 432,403,231. The national debt to-day less the $129,152,344 surplus cash in the treasury amounts to $838,074,075, of which amount $585,031,080 is interest-bearing debt made up of $559,666,580 fours and $25,364,500 two-per cent bonds.

Government receipts during August aggregated $34,032,928 against $28,884,851 in August 1891. Customs receipts were heavy aggregating $18,271,068 against $15,164,674 in August a year ago, and internal revenue receipts amounted to $14,063,459 against $12,501,829 in August, 1891. ### New York Stock Market.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Money loaned stringent at 3 to 6 per cent, closing 4 per cent.

Trading in stocks this morning was very active. The business was the largest in weeks. The sales amounted to 23,738 by noon. The most active speculatives were the industrials. Prices were weak throughout and at noon were generally ½ to 1⅛ per cent lower. Sugar Trust was especially weak, declining 5 per cent. General Electric was the next weakest, declining 3½.

The selling of the morning continued even on a more extended scale during the afternoon, and prices continued to go down.

The heaviest selling was of industrials and the cholera scare seemed to be on the increase. The selling was attributed to a general desire on the part of the brokers to get rid of their holdings and leave the city before the disease should reach the city proper. Prices closed at the bottom figures of the day. The decline ranged from ½ to 5½ per cent. The sales were the largest in months, 563,508 shares changing hands.

BIRDS WITH WARLIKE NATURES.

Vindictive Robins That Attack Even Men and Women

The conduct of birds is sometimes peculiar and very queer. At the North End and on the Hill are two peculiar cases of eccentricity in robins, whose conduct is not [illegible] and perhaps less [illegible] understood than that of a [illegible] bird a [illegible] ago made her [illegible] on the lawn [illegible] of a [illegible] near a [illegible] that [illegible] of young chippies [illegible] on the lawn [illegible] by flying down at them and snapping her bill in their eyes [illegible] as to [illegible] up their guesses. To punish her for her impudence a pole was thrust up repeatedly by the side of the nest.

This so enraged the mother bird that whenever that person appeared, coming down the step on the lawn, she would fly at him and seem determined to peck his eyes out. Soon she learned to fly at him as soon as he appeared on the steps, before he got down to the lawn [illegible] to punish him in an unlooked for way; a kind of artillery practice in which the aim was generally at the victim's head and it rarely missed. The robin is no such bird. But the one at the North End, evidently the proprietor of a nest of young birds near by, is the implacable foe of a particular cat. This feline is a jet black cat, whose mistress keeps him as much as possible in the upper tenement where she lives, letting him take sun and air up there in the open window.

There, as soon as the robin sees him, she flies right at him—not waiting for the cat to attack her or her young, but bouncing right into his face, till she fairly forces him to beat a retreat. Sometimes she finds him on the lawn. Then there is a set combat. The bird flies right at the cat's eyes. The cat, snarling and snapping, jumps back and then jumps for the bird. The bird nimbly retreats—executing a backward movement on the lawn, as swift and dexterous as only a bird can execute and then flies at the cat, pecking at his eyes. The cat's mistress, fearing for her pet, one day interfered, and grabbing him in her arms was about to take him off the field, when to her astonishment the robin flew at the cat where she held it in her arms, and then flew in the woman's face, forcing her to drop the cat and run to save her own eyes.

Next day the cat was seen to go to a low swung hammock under some trees, and reaching up and getting hold of it he was enjoying a nice little swing all by himself, when his bird foe espied him and flew down at him, driving him ignominiously off. A day later he was seen on the fence where the robin again got at him, but he held his ground (or rather fence) bravely that time, and the robin stood in front of him. "If ever a bird uttered profane abuse," said a spectator, "that robin was the bird. Such another abusive scolding no cat surely ever had." But the cat could stand that better than the bird's beak aimed at his eyes. This scene was had in the back yard fence of a house on Wooster street.—Hartford Times.
